

An example of photo oxidation is the rusting of iron. In this process, iron atoms react with oxygen and water molecules in the presence of ultraviolet light, generating the iron oxide known as rust.